Message from Revd Adam Wells

Dear Friends,

At the Circuit Meeting we agreed the Lee Common Methodist Church should be allowed to close. We will now seek the District's blessing through the District Executive and Synod.

When a Church decides it is time to close there is inevitably sadness, a bereavement at the loss of something that has been. There must also be a sense of thanksgiving to God, in the case of Lee Common for 182 years of worship and witness.

As I turn my mind to preparing the final service for Lee Common Methodist Church I am conscious also that at the core of our faith is the death and resurrection of Jesus. Similarly individual congregations come to an end and new ones are born. Philip Doddridge's hymn 'The Saviour when to heaven he rose', (STF 669 H&P 211) says in relation to pastors and preachers, 'While unborn churches by their care shall rise and flourish large and fair.' New churches or Christian initiatives are always being born and coming to fruition.

This thought encourages me to think boldly and creatively about what we do in the rest of the Circuit and also in relation to the best way to use the building at Lee Common for the benefit of the whole Christian community and beyond. Whatever the future of the building at Lee Common may be it should share the sentiment of the last couplet in Doddridge's hymn 'Pastors and people shout his praise through all the round of endless days.'

Best wishes and prayers. Adam
